Eternal Sameness

Jason Deans 6 Oct - 19 Nov 2016 opening Thurs 6th Oct 6-9pm

"What I really look for in my work is how the use of raw, natural materials can resonate, respond and retort to human interactions on the contemporary world." Jason Deans

The Dublin based artist's 'Eternal Sameness' work stands testament to significant social political commentary within the ephemeral constructs created. This use of ephemeral materials in his practice is important, as the instability and wonder it creates within the work is paramount to the viewer's experience within the space.

Walk Through

Iann Griffin and Alice Clark
4 - 19th November
Exhibition opening Thurs, 3 Nov 6-9pm

WalkThrough examines ways landscape is represented and interpreted. It looks at experiences of nature, real and imagined.

lain Griffin's piece Reveries of a Solitary Walker presents itself as a collection of landscape photography but is in fact a series of captured screenshots from a video game. His practice dissects the act of expressing truth.

Alice Clark explores non-representational acts of map/mark making that register the fluidity of movement through a landscape, connecting the variables of time and space in the drawings.
